

GRAZIAS

With basic features of a traditional saxophone quartet, extended by elements on the flute as a color-giving voice and powerful support from bass and drums, Grazias form a highly characteristic ensemble with a very unique sound.

The band plays original compositions and arrangements, putting their technical and improvisational skills at the heart of the performance alongside first-class interplay.

Following their live video production released on YouTube, Grazias released their debut album "Groove Session" with Alessa Records in February 2020 as part of a transnational tour.

In 2021 they followed up with a studio video production featuring new compositions that are the precursor to their new album.
